Official Paper of the City.

Forever float that standard sheet!
Where breathes the foe but falls before us?
With Freedom's soil beneath our feet,
And Freedom's banner streaming o'er us!

The Taking of Huntsville.

The news of the occupation of Huntsville, Ala., by Gen. Mitchell, and the capture of a large amount of the rolling stock of the Memphis & Charleston railroad, is of much importance. That place is situated 119 miles east of Corinth, and its possession by it deprives the enemy of any hope of aid from the rebel states east of them. Huntsville is 100 miles south of Nashville, so that Mitchell has penetrated further south than any of our generals.

Was it a victory?

The bloody battle on the Tennessee can hardly be considered a great victory. The enemy attacked us, our forces retreated on the first day a mile or two; and on the second day, we drove them back and regained our lost ground. This is all, except the immense slaughter, which was, probably, about even between the contending parties. At last accounts, the enemy did not retire to Corinth, but remained in force between the battle ground and that place. If it had been a complete victory we should have either captured or dispersed the rebel army. Another battle will, therefore, be necessary to decide who are the victors.

The Eighteenth Wisconsin Regiment.

We learn by a private dispatch that the 18th regiment, Col. Alban, was sent to the front of Sherman's division, immediately on its arrival at Pittsburgh Landing, and was in the fight of Sunday, behaving with great gallantry. They were inexperienced, but rendered efficient service, and suffered terribly.

The Loss at Pittsburgh.

The loss of the federal army at the battle at Pittsburgh Landing has been variously estimated from 5,000 to 20,000. If the loss was in the same proportion in other regiments, as in those from this state, it would reach the latter figure, including killed, wounded and prisoners. We shall not be surprised to learn that it exceeds 10,000.

Abolition of Slavery in the District of Columbia.

The passage of the bill to abolish slavery in the District of Columbia, in the house of representatives, on Friday, will be hailed with joy. Doubtless, before this time, President Lincoln has affixed his signature to the bill, and it is now a law. The shameful blot is wiped out. We have a free capital at last. Time was, in our memory, when chained slaves were driven through the streets of Washington, to the slave pen, a market place for human flesh. We looked, at that day with horror, upon there representatives of the nation who permitted it, and with wonder at the blindness of their minds and the hardness of their hearts. We are no less astonished now to find that 39 members of the house voted in the negative, on the passage of this bill. They or their children will yet be ashamed of the record, while the ninety-eight names in the affirmative, will be held in everlasting remembrance for the good deed they performed in casting their votes for this measure. "The world moves," and freedom "is marching on."

The False Rumor.

The report in the Chicago Tribune that the eighteenth Wisconsin regiment exhibited cowardice at the battle of Pittsburgh Landing, proves utterly untrue and without foundation. We never, for a moment credited the story, and the bloody record of their gallantry proves that confidence was not misplaced. The people of the Badger State would rather hear of the annihilation of every man in a regiment than that they failed in courage in the hour of trial. Therefore, it was with a sense of relief that the contradiction of the slander was read, although the regiment lost many of its brave men. We mourn their loss, but at the same time are proud of their daring on that bloody field.

The reporters of news in relation to battles should be careful about giving currency to such rumors. They should never be published without the most incontrovertible authority, as they carry pain to thousands of hearts, more poignant even than the report of many deaths.

CANNON AT COLUMBUS.—Columbus, Ky., has been left in a defenseless condition since the rebels ran away from it bag and baggage, but is to be so no longer. Sixty cannon are being mounted there by direction of Gen. Strong.

LIBERAL OFFER.—Charles Dickens has been invited to deliver a course of lectures in Australia, for which he is offered the sum of $30,000 or $25,000 and his expenses.

In a card to the Wheeling Intelligencer, Gen. Rosecrans explicitly denies that he has thought of resigning, or that he objects to serving under Gen. Fremont.

WELL DONE!—The people of Peoria, Illinois, contributed $1,700 in money, and a car load of delicacies, for the benefit of the wounded in the battle at Pittsburgh.

Congressional.

THE FOLLOWING ARE THE CONCLUDING PROCEEDINGS OF THE HOUSE, ON FRIDAY, WHICH RESULTED IN THE PASSAGE OF THE BILL ABOLISHING SLAVERY IN THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA:

Mr. Wickliffe then offered a substitute for the bill, in substance that no person not now in the District of Columbia, or who may hereafter be born therein, shall be held as slaves.

Persons coming to reside temporarily in the District may bring their servants with them; those now held as slaves to remain such until emancipated by their respective owners, compensation to be paid therefor; the bill to receive the approval of the legal voters.

Mr. Vallandigham was opposed to any bill for the abolition of slavery in the District of Columbia, for many reasons, one of which alone was sufficient. He regarded all this class of legislation as tending to prevent the restoration of the Union of the states as it was, and this is the grand object to which he looked. In a very little while the question will be between the old Union of the States—the Union of our fathers—and a new Union or unity of government. To the latter he was unalterably and unconditionally opposed, and to this he was bound to the last moment of his personal and political existence. He spoke of this bill as initiatory on part of the Republicans to interfere with slavery in the states. This charge had heretofore been denied as a "loco-foco lie."

Mr. Divan of New York, said he would vote for the substitute if that part providing it to be passed upon by the people he struck out. He wished to remark to those who insist that the Republicans intend to interfere with slavery in the states, they are mistaken. He believed that congress could do no better thing than abolish slavery in the District of Columbia. It would exhaust the question in Congress and tend to quiet agitation. Mr. Divan said so far as the remark of "loco-foco lie" was concerned, that was about truth. It was never the intention of the Republican party to interfere with slavery in the states. It never should be while he was a member of it. It was a slander on that party to so charge. Some would do so. They were not of, but with the Republican party.

Mr. Wickliffe's substitute was rejected 35 against 84.

The committee rose and the bill was reported to the house precisely as it came from the senate.

Mr. Stevens of Pennsylvania, moved the previous question, which was seconded.

Mr. Wickliffe unsuccessfully appealed to Mr. Stevens to let the yeas and nays be taken on his substitute.

The bill passed—98 against 39.

Adjourned till Monday.

Last Night's Report.

WASHINGTON, April 12. The Secretary of War has received information that Huntsville, Alabama, was occupied yesterday by Gen. Mitchell without much resistance. Two hundred prisoners were taken, also fifteen locomotives, and a large amount of rolling stock.

BALTIMORE, April 12. The United States gunboat Reliance arrived here this morning, with the schooner Hartford, captured off the mouth of Wyoming river.

A copy of the Richmond Whig of the 11th was found on board, which has been furnished to the American. It contains the following dispatch, in reference to the battle in Tennessee, all being dated on the 9th, and giving an account of the Sunday fight only.

BATTLE OF SMOKE, April 6.
Via Corinth and Chattanooga.]

General Soper, Adjutant General:

We have this morning attacked the federal army, in strong position, in front of Pittsburgh, and after a severe battle of 10 hours, thanks to Almighty God, gained a complete victory, driving the enemy from every position. The loss on both sides is heavy, including our Commander-in-Chief, Albert Sydney Johnston, who fell gallantly leading his troops into the thickest of the fight. [Signed.]

G. T. BEAUREGARD,
General Commanding.

First Dispatch, Mobile, April 7.—Special dispatch to the Advertiser and Register, dated yesterday afternoon, says that the battle was fierce and furious. The enemy stubbornly resisting their fate, while the southerners continued to press upon them with relentless determination, slowly but surely forcing them back. Our loss is heavy, but our men are in good spirits, and thoroughly warmed up to the work in hand. All fight well, but the Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana troops display great gallantry. The 21st Alabama covered themselves with glory.

This regiment captured two batteries. The 1st Louisiana regiment of regulars took a battery. Gen. Bushrod Johnson, one of the Fort Donelson prisoners, who subsequently escaped, is wounded. Sunday night, the enemy are in full retreat, and the confederates in hot pursuit. I write from the enemy's camp, and on federal paper. Large numbers of prisoners have been taken, and we expect to capture the greater part of the federal army. We are driving them back on the river, and shall kill or capture their army. The battle is still raging with terrible fury. We have captured Gen. Prentiss and a large number of officers. Gen. Albert Sidney Johnson fell at half past two o'clock. One of his legs was torn off by a shell, and a minie ball struck him in the body. He died while gallantly and steadily leading our victorious troops. Gen. Beauregard now commands the army. He says this is a second Manassas fight. Gen. Buell was not in time to take part in the action.

There is no account in the paper of Monday's battle, in which the rebels were so completely routed.

OFFICIAL WAR BULLETIN.
War Department, April 12, 1862.

Col. Anson Stager is hereby authorized to grant passes to editors, correspondents and reporters of newspapers, to enter the lines of the United States army, upon receiving satisfactory proof that the person applying for such pass is loyal and has given parole not to publish any information in regard to military operations that would give aid or comfort to the enemy. Persons holding such passes to be subject to such rules and regulations as the general commanding may prescribe.

Secretary of War.

He wished to remark to those who insist that the republicans intend to interfere with slavery in the states, they are mistaken. He believed that congress could do no better thing than abolish slavery in the District of Columbia. It would exhaust the question in congress and tend to quiet agitation. Mr. Diven said so far as the remark of "lococo lie" was concerned, that was about truth. It was never the intention of the republican party to interfere with slavery in the states. It never should be while he was a member of it. It was a slander on that party to so charge. Some would do so. They were not of, but with the republican party.

Mr. Wickliffe's substitute was rejected 35 against 84.

The committee rose and the bill was reported to the house precisely as it came from the senate.

Mr. Stevens of Pennsylvania, moved the previous question, which was seconded. Mr. Wickliffe unsuccessfully appealed to Mr. Stevens to let the yeas and nays be taken on his substitute.

The bill passed—98 against 39. Adjourned till Monday.

DEPARTURES FROM THE BRITISH ARMY.—The Kingston (C. W.) News urges that a guard be placed on Wolf Island, St. Lawrence river, to save the British soldiers who are deserting to the United States in squads. Large numbers have deserted this winter, and the utmost vigilance is exercised to prevent whole regiments from making a stampede across the lines. Civilians are employed and large rewards are offered by the city authorities to prevent desertions.

If this is the case now, when we have no object in drawing upon the British force in Canada, how would it be in the event of war, when inducements would be offered to the oppressed, down trodden men, in the line of the British regiments to forsake the command that crushes them, and take a place in lines where soldiers are respected?

LIBERAL OFFER.—Charles Dickens has been invited to deliver a course of lectures in Australia, for which he is offered the sum of $30,000 or $25,000 and his expenses.

In a card to the Wheeling Intelligencer, Gen. Rosecrans explicitly denies that he has thought of resigning, or that he objects to serving under Gen. Fremont.

WELL DONE!—The people of Peoria, Illinois, contributed $1,700 in money, and a car load of delicacies, for the benefit of the wounded in the battle at Pittsburgh.

CANNON AT COLUMBUS.—Columbus, Ky., has been left in a defenseless condition since the rebels ran away from it bag and baggage, but is to be so no longer. Sixty cannon are being mounted there by direction of Gen. Stroock.

The Paris Bourse was depressed and fluctuating, and closes firmer at 69f 75c.

LIVERPOOL, March 30.

The rebel schooner C. S. Evans was passed on the 4th of March by the G. Fleming, from Bombay. There was an unknown American ship alongside. The Union flag was lowered when the ships parted company.

A Norfolk paper has been received here containing a dispatch from Beauregard, in relation to the 25 days fighting at Pittsburg Landing. He claims a complete victory. He says that after capturing 36 of our guns and 8000 prisoners, his force fell back upon his works at Corinth, which they are fully able to hold.

BALTIMORE, April 14.

In reference to Beauregard's dispatches, alluded to in the Old Point letter, enquires have been made of the war department, and we are authorised to say that the reports from Pittsburg Landing already given to the public, contradict the report in the Norfolk paper. All reports received at the war department confirm the statements that the enemy were routed and pursued as far as the previous orders of Gen. Grant would permit, and the enemy are now encamped up in Corinth.

AID FOR THE WOUNDED.—Although our people have donated liberally, have they done all they can for the wounded soldiers? It is said that preparations need to be made for six thousand wounded. Drawers, sheets, shirts and bed sacks, are wanted immediately, by the Sanitary Commission, 41 Wahash avenue, Chicago.

Chicago Rock Co., March 29, 1862.

To the Editors of the Janesville Gazette.—I have just learned that certain agents of insurance companies are taking advantage of the silence of the Janesville papers in relation to the settlement, by the Madison Mutual Insurance Company, of my loss by fire, and falsely arguing therefrom that the company have not yet paid my claim.

As a mere act of justice to that company I will state to the public my communication to the Madison State Journal of February 25th inst. I there stated at length the circumstances under which I was insured by this company contrary to my previous convictions of policy, but, as it proved, greatly to my advantage; that my home, while new and complete, was with most of its contents, wholly destroyed by fire on the 16th day of December last, and that the company, with characteristic honor and promptness, paid me the full amount of my claim, viz: $1,333 22, two months before it was due according to the terms of the policy.

My communication was followed by an article written at considerable length by the senior editor of the Journal, affirming, from an intimate knowledge of the company from its start to the present time, my conviction of its high character for safety, economy and honorable dealing.

Now as it has been assumed that if my loss had been settled it would have been published in the papers in Rock county, where I am well known, I take this method of once answering that doubt, and recomending the Madison Mutual Insurance company to the confidence of the public. N. BLAKEY.

Mr. Orrin Guernsey is one of the directors and agent for Rock county. He will commence immediately a canvass of the county for policies. He states that no assessment has been made for three years, and that the company has now a surplus of $36,000 in cash on hand, and an unimpaired capital of $216,865.76.

MASS MEETING OF FARM MORTGAGORS.—There will be a mass meeting of the farm mortgagors on all the railroads in this state, at Milwaukee, on Tuesday, the 22d day of April, 1862, at 4 o'clock, P.M. Important business will come before that meeting. All mortgagors, whether members of leagues or not, are invited to attend said meeting.

PRISONERS COMING.—We are informed that 600 rebel prisoners will pass through this city to-day or to-morrow on their way to Madison.

PUBLIC MEETING.—S. M. Booth will address the citizens of Janesville on "The War and Condition of the Country," at the Court Room, in this city, on Thursday evening, April 17th. All are invited to attend.

THE EDITORIAL CONVENTION.—The last number of the Watertown Democrat contains full particulars of the Editorial Convention to be held at Racine on the 18th June.

D. W. Ballou, Jun., the President of the Association, has appointed the following to give addresses on the occasion:

"The Annual Address," by E. W. Fitch, of the Manitowoc Herald.

"The Annual Poem," by T. W. Brown, of the Wisconsin Chief.

The eulogy on W. M. Graham, who fell at Falling Waters, and was a Commercial Editor of the Milwaukee Wisconsin, by C. H. Wright, late of the Milwaukee News, now of the Chicago Post.

George Hyer will prepare a biography of the pioneer editors of the state.

The proceedings of the convention will possess not only an individual but a general interest.

GEN. MAGRUDER'S PROCLAMATION.—Gen. Magruder issued a proclamation to the soldiers of the rebel army on the 28th ult. He states that the enemy is upon them, and that his number is far superior to theirs. He advises them to fortify themselves in every possible place, and to control every inch of ground. Three days' rations are to be cooked, and baked biscuit are to be carried instead of flour. The fight, he anticipates, will take place on the Warwick River. In conclusion, he advises them to fire low.

RESIGNS.—Amongst the accepted resignations of officers of Wisconsin regiments, we notice that of Lieutenant Colonel Messmore, of the 14th.

SALE OF JEWELRY AND SILVER WARE.—A stock of jewelry and silver ware is offered for sale at the store in Myer's block, next to McKey's store. The articles will be sold at private sale during the day and at auction during the evening. Ladies are invited to call in the afternoon. Sale to close Thursday next.

HOPES OF A FOREIGN RECOGNITION ABANDONED.—A letter from New Orleans in the Mobile Register of March 13th says that the Southern Commissioners are greatly dispirited at the reception which Mr. Thorne gave Mr. Slidell. But as Mr. Yancey observed in his speech, slavery has made such a wall of partition between the South and Europe that all hopes of a prompt recognition by England and France must be for the present abandoned. As to their want of cotton, I am of the opinion expressed by Mr. Sommes of Louisiana, in the confederate congress, and I have long since abandoned the idea that "Cotton is King." We have tested the power of King Cotton, and found him wanting. We have now to abandon all dependence on foreign intervention and trust only to our sword and the justice of our cause.—Mobile Register.

CONFISCATION.—Let congress or the President hurry up the confiscation of rebel property. The people begin to be anxious about it. We want earnest work now. No half way measures will suit the temper of the west.

We have tested the power of King Cotton, and found him wanting. We have now to abandon all dependence on foreign intervention and trust only to our sword and the justice of our cause.—Mobile Register.

CONFISCATION.—Let Congress or the President hurry up the confiscation of rebel property. The people begin to be anxious about it. We want earnest work now. No half way measures will suit the temper of the west.
